

More filled chairs.
Less time chasing replies.

8-12

last-minute cancellations each week

Cancellation estimate from your conversation.

Today, you scan a spreadsheet and text clients yourself. An opening can stay empty while you wait for replies.

The goal: keep each opening moving safely, with less checking from you and Carla.

Less chasing at the front desk

Enter an opening. The earliest suitable client gets the first offer.

Matches service, availability and stylist preference.

Openings & outcomes

Haircut with Elena · Mon, Oct 5, 12:38 AM Waiting for a reply

12:33:20 AM · Opening added.

12:33:20 AM · Offered to Jordan Lee (10-second demo).

Reply by Mon, Oct 5, 12:33 AM

Stop outreach

Staff view with sample clients. This screenshot uses the 10-second demo.

A prototype for Lena and Carla

A simple reply. One safe booking

A private link, no account

Clients accept or decline from their phone. Other clients' details stay private.

Up to 15 minutes to reply. A decline, missed reply or failed delivery moves the offer to the next person.

Accepting confirms once. You can cancel if plans change.

YOUR PRIVATE INVITATION

An earlier appointment, just for you.

Haircut with Elena · Mon, Oct 5, 12:38 AM · 30 minutes

Please reply by Mon, Oct 5, 12:38 AM (244 seconds remaining).

Yes, I'll take it

No thanks

A small trial with Lena and Carla

What this demo shows

Sample clients and simulated texts. No real messages are sent. Normal offers last up to 15 minutes, or until the appointment starts.

Live texting and Google Sheets import still need setup. You update your existing calendar. Payments are outside the scope.

A suggested next step

Spend 20 minutes together trying an acceptance, a missed reply and a cancellation using sample clients.

If it feels right, agree on a small live trial after texting is connected. Track openings filled and time spent following up.